Citizens' Meeting Declares
Strongly for Annexation.

WILL VOTE TO ISSUE BONDS
Reasons for Desiring to Come
Into Richmond Are Stated.

An enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Barton Heights was held last night at the engine house. The matter of the action of the Council of Richmond in reference to annexation was discussed, and the question was looked upon as settled for the time being. The meeting then resolved itself into a committee of the whole, and talked of matters of importance to the town, and it was felt that at the election on Tuesday the bond issue of $15,000 for town improvements would be voted for unanimously. The sense of the meeting was to go ahead with all effort to bring about the contemplated improvements to the town in the way of streets, water, fire protection, sewers and all other necessary things.

The meeting was largely attended, and after full discussion and mature deliberation it was decided that the annexation to Richmond of the territory in which they lived was desirable for the best interests of all concerned. Those who favored annexation were not influenced solely or mainly by selfish considerations. They did not suppose that they could reap any considerable material advantage in the near future from such a measure. They knew that incorporation into the city would bring a probable increase of taxation, but there were larger considerations of which they took account. They felt that it was incongruous and abnormal that Richmond should have clinging to her edges a number of small communities, self-sufficient, and that they were sure that having already so many important interests in the city of Richmond, they ought to be willing to take any additional burden which annexation might bring, and to contribute as far as possible to the growth and prosperity of the noble and historic city in which every loyal Virginian feels an inextinguishable pride. Least of all did they pose as mendicants asking a dole.

MR. FLOOD EXPLAINS.

Minister Wished to Ask Question and Crowd Tried to Prevent.

Congressman H. Flood returned yesterday from Buckingham Courthouse, where he went on Tuesday from Appomattox. Mr. Flood stated last night that he was in the courthouse because he had a law case there, and that he had no idea of making a political speech when he went. When he was called on he responded that he had been in Buckingham ever since.

Speaking of the sentiment of Buckingham, Mr. Flood stated that he had met and talked with many of the people of the county, which is in his congressional district, and that in his opinion the county will give a majority for Senator Martin, and a good one.

He explained that the temporary disorder during his speech, which was reported by the press, was due to an interruption for a question by Rev. Mr. Lott, a minister and a very estimable gentleman, and the efforts made to prevent the interruption. Mr. Flood stated that he had no objection whatever to the interruption, as he had the highest respect for Mr. Lott, and desired to answer his question. That was all the disorder he knew of, if that could be called disorder. He quieted that and listened to the minister's question.

Doing Fine Business.

Mr. E. T. Mankin, of the Mankin Construction Company, left Thursday for Tampa, Fla. He went in connection with a handsome depot, to be erected at that place for the Seaboard Air Line Railway. From there he will go to Key West, where he is building a large cigar factory for the Havana American Cigar Company. He will also go to Natchez, Miss., where he has a handsome postoffice in course of erection. After going to Atlanta to attend to business he will return to Richmond.

CHIEF WERNER
TAKES UP REINS

First Order Outlines Policy to be Pursued by Him.

Chief of Police Louis Werner took charge of the office yesterday at noon, and all during the day the office was crowded with friends, who called on him to extend their good wishes. A large bouquet of white carnations graced his desk, and a hospitable and kindly smile beamed from his face. Werner, who is a native of the city, was called before City Clerk Ben T. August early in the day, and then called upon the Mayor. The two chatted for a little while, and the course of the new chief was outlined. This course is clearly set forth in the first communication sent out to the men, and which was read to them at the hours of relief yesterday. Nothing but kind words have been spoken for the new chief by officers and citizens, and he starts out on a career that bids fair to make him a most popular chief of police.

The order, as sent out yesterday, reads as follows:

"Richmond, Va., April 15, 1905.

"Notice to Captain, You will have the following communication read to all members of the department in your respective districts."

"To the members of the Police Department of the City of Richmond:

"In assuming charge of this department I desire to state that I have the highest confidence in the integrity and ability of those under me to believe that, under proper guidance, this department can be made the equal of any of its size in the entire country. I know that the rank and file, as well as the officers, are absolutely devoid of fear, of good intelligence and have the best interest of the service at heart."

"I desire to impress upon you that I shall at all times insist upon your rendering the service that I know is commensurate with your abilities, and while the many hardships of this business and to make your burden as light as possible."

"Any consideration that can be shown you, when such favor shall not interfere with those whose record is such as to merit same."

"I realize that, to attain the highest degree of efficiency in police service, it is absolutely necessary that I have your active support and co-operation, and believe that each and every officer will take pride in striving to place this department on such a footing as to meet with the approval of the entire community."

"No radical changes will be made, but such improvement of the force shall be made from time to time."

(Signed) "LOUIS WERNER,"

"Chief of Police."

GREAT SPECTACLE
OUT IN OPEN AIR

The Boer War Drama to be Given Here Easter Week.

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the presentation in Richmond of the great Boer War drama—spectacle during Easter week, for two days—Wednesday and Thursday, April 26th and 27th, on the grounds at the head of Broad Street. This is the gigantic military spectacle that was the crowning feature of the St. Louis World's Fair, and which is now making its way from winter quarters in New Orleans to Brighton Beach, New York, where it will be produced for the summer season.

The enterprise is undoubtedly the largest amusement production that has ever been moved through the country. It requires three trains to move the 600 men, 25 horses, oxen, mules, cannon and all the equipment that goes towards the complete presentation of the battle scenes of the historic Anglo-Boer conflict.

However, the intent and the magnitude of this great production, is nothing compared with the wealth of human interest that is contained in the personal story of the men who composed the company. General Piet A. Cronje, the man who brought the British to the realization that the men of the little South African Republic could fight for home and country, is leading the other 600 warriors, all of whom are veterans, either of the Boer or British armies.

What Is the Boer War?

The Boer War spectacle is so entirely different from any previous undertaking of a similar nature that misunderstanding is encountered upon every hand. All the terrors of battle and all the display of bravery that forms part of great conflicts between brave men and true, fighting for their rights, is vividly reproduced.

Sell Delinquent Lands.

Delinquent Tax Collector T. C. Walford advertises in another column of this paper that he will on the first day of May offer for sale all lands delinquent for the non-payment of 1904 taxes. Persons desiring to avoid the cost of publication will call and settle their taxes prior to April 18th.

Pastor McDaniel to Speak.

Rev. George W. McDaniel will address the members of the colored Y. M. C. A. and their friends at True Reformers' Hall this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and Captain F. W. Cunningham will sing, accompanied by Mr. Reginald Walker.

Committee Meetings.

The following committees are scheduled to meet at the City Hall this week:
Monday, Streets, 5 P. M.; Light, Food and Health, 8 P. M.
Tuesday, Finance, 8 P. M.
Thursday, Grounds and Buildings, 8 P. M.
Friday, Ordinances, 8 P. M.

CHOKED WRONG WOMAN
AND TROUBLE BEGAN

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, April 15.—Lizzie Fitzgerald, said to be of Chicago, was arrested to-day as a witness in the Rathskeller murder in this city a few days ago. Detectives say that the fight which resulted in the death of Roy Joyce was the outcome of a quarrel between the Fitzgerald woman and a man who is known as Joseph or "Red" Gray.

After her arrest the woman said that she came from Chicago to New York with Gray, and that he "made a pauper" of her. She then left him and married a man named Fitzgerald, but Gray continued to follow her. According to her story when she refused to speak to him, Gray decided to kill her. With several companions he came into the Rathskeller on the night of the killing and began to choke another woman, making her for choice another woman, making her for choice another woman. The friends of the Fitzgerald woman interfered and the fatal fight in which Joyce, the bartender, was killed, resulted.
